This, Our Nation

By Mackey W. Hill

We are witnessing the modification of our foreign and domestic policies. These promises were repeatedly made during the campaign and now apparently the new administration is seeking to redeem those campaign pledges to some extent.

The most far reaching action at least in the repercussions that it has incited has been Eisenhower's declaration that he was withdrawing the American naval blockade from its position between Red China and Nationalist's Chinese Formosa. It was for the purpose, so he stated, of freeing Chiang Kai-Shek's soldiers to make military assault against the China that is now held by the Communists. With the Red China as the aggressor in conflict with the United Nations in Korea the president denied that this policy was an act of American aggression against China, but on the other hand he interpreted the action as that of releasing Chinese for a legitimate struggle for their homeland. This action need not expand the area of conflict beyond those nations that are now involved in this struggle.

Meantime, Europeans have spoken out against this stand. Notably the British have been outspoken with their criticism. They fear that it will ultimately extend the area of the conflict. Secretary of State, John Foster Dulles, is in Europe at this time and has tried to answer objections as clearly as possible. An another matter Dulles has insisted that the United States will withhold assistance to European nations unless there is a demonstration that their heart is in this matter of resisting communism to the extent that they will do their best.

The changes to come in domestic policy is illustrated by the treatment given the price controls machinery and policy. Steps are being taken that will end price controls entirely by April 30, 1953.

The Lighter Side Grandma's House?

Spring cleaning came early to the inhabitants of Vet house 1.

With the opening of second semester the men began by moving all furniture out of the living room, mopping the house with Cheer, and literally hosing it out.

As to the exterior they have put up a white picket fence. Future plans include mowing the lawn and planting sweetpeas.

"It's going to look like Grandmother's house when we're done," explained junior Jerry Carr.

"But," interrupted sophomore Yvonne Hubbard, "Grandma doesn't live there; the wolf does, and you don't need to expect Red Riding Hood to visit you."

Jerry's colleagues are Ted Eichenberger, Jim Delapp, and Gene Comfort.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

Spring vacation will be extended this year from March 27, 4:00 p. m. to April 7, 8:00 a. m.

This is because of the large percentage of students in the choir, which will be on tour at that time.

No meals will be served in the college dining hall during the vacation.

Seven Quartets Harmonize Sunday Afternoon

DEEP HARMONY—The male quartet from Northwest Christian college in Eugene, pictured above, will appear in Sunday afternoon's Quartet Festival. Six other quartets are scheduled to sing, also.

Social Heads Plan Formal Party

The GFC spring semester reception and annual Valentine's party are being combined into one formal party to be held next Monday at 8 p. m. in the dining hall.

A king and queen of hearts will be chosen to reign over the evening's festivities.

In charge of this event are Norman Winters, social chairman of the Student Christian union, and Orville Winters, social chairman for the ASB.

In yesterday's Associated Student meeting primary ballots were cast for the King and Queen of Hearts. The five highest men and women will be voted on, and the results will be revealed at the party Monday evening.

Statistics Show Increase In Library Circulation

From the college library comes a report of increased circulation among George Fox students.

Records show that the average circulation per student from September to December this year was 12.7 volumes.

As contrasted with the statistics for the same period in 1949, the average circulation was 1.64 per student. In 1950 the average was 1.77 and in 1951, 2.18.

"The sharp increase speaks well for the attitude of the students, the teachers, and the librarian," reports Dean McNichols.

He added that the books recently acquired are rated high in lists of top reading material, both fiction and non-fiction.

Coach Bales Reports Theme Song To Be 'Cruising Down the River'

George Bales, men's athletic instructor, took advantage of the Willamette river's flooded condition and went canoeing January 21.

Leaving at Dickie's Dairy on Chehalem creek, George paddled down to the river and across to the St. Paul highway.

When George was asked why he took this little jaunt, he replied, "I thought it would be fun!"

Coach Bales' hobby, as is evident, is his 17-foot Kennebec canoe. He reports having paddled the Willamette river from Eugene to Oregon City, including most of her tributaries.

In 1941 Bales paddled an equally flooded Willamette. "Guess it's becoming a fad with me," he added.

Tomorrow George plans to put

Harlan Jones Injured; Shows Improvement

Harlan Jones, superintendent of buildings and grounds of Newberg schools and member of Newberg Friends church, was injured when he fell from a tree while trimming it January 3 and is recuperating in a Portland hospital.

"Latest report on Mr. Jones' condition is that he is improving. It is a slow process but signs for recovery are evident," reports his brother, Ray Jones.

his boat in the river again. This time he will take his Dundee Methodist Sunday school class to the Wheatland Ferry.

"Contrary to popular opinion," George assured, "Canoeing is not dangerous when done properly!"

PADDLING HIS OWN CANOE down the St. Paul highway is Coach George Bales during the high water a week ago.

The fourth annual presentation of the Gospel Quartet Festival, sponsored by the Singing Men of George Fox college, will be held in the Newberg high school auditorium and gymnasium Sunday, February 8 at 3:00 p. m.

Quartets appearing on the program are Voice of Faith, Four Square Gospel church in Portland; Ambassadors, Multnomah School of the Bible; Harmonaires, George Fox college; Victory Quartet, Seattle Pacific college; and quartets from Northwest Christian college and Portland Christian high school. The Four Flats, formerly of George Fox college and well known in barbershop circles as well as sacred music, will be presented.

Returning to the high school stage as emcee will be Roy Clark, pastor of the Vancouver Friends church, who has filled this position in past festivals. Mr. Clark is a former music instructor at George Fox and honorary president of the Singing Men organization. Allen Hadley, Sunday school superintendent at First Friends church in Portland, will handle the emcee chores in the high school gymnasium.

In connection with this program of sacred music, an audience participation program called Meet Your Neighbor, with Lou Gillette of KMCM as emcee, will be broadcast over this station from the festival in the high school auditorium from 2:15 to 2:45 p. m. Following this program, a portion of the Quartet Festival will be recorded to be broadcast the following Sunday over KMCM.

President Klane Robison reports that committees for the festival have been hard at work for several weeks. Assisting Klane are Norman Winters, vice-president; Don Pearson, secretary; and David Elliott, treasurer.

Serving as heads of their various committees are Robert Byrd, publicity; Jack Hoskins, reception; Verne Martin, traffic; and Orville Winters and Leland Brown, ushering.

In charge of stage design is Sandra Nordkye, assisted by Rosemary Ramsey, Pete Snow, Muriel Hoover and Lois Bain. Ted Eichenberger will serve as stage manager.

"Each succeeding year the festival grows larger and receives more interest," reports Klane Robison. "We of the Singing Men organization on the George Fox campus are sponsoring this program to further the appreciation of the gospel quartet music and in the interest of the musical life of Newberg. We sincerely hope we are accomplishing our purpose."

There will be no admission charge to the event, but a free-will offering will be taken. An overflow crowd of 2,500 people is expected.

Four GF Students Receive Top GPA's

Four students of George Fox college received perfect 4.00 grade point averages for the first semester, according to statistics released this week by Miss Mary C. Sutton, registrar.

Those students with straight "A" grade cards were Maribeth McCracken, senior; Myrta Chandler, junior; JoAnne Tuning and Arnold Lee, freshmen.

Other seniors making the honor roll were Klane Robison, 3.64; Marjorie Larrance, 3.60; Rosetta Ballard, 3.20; and Margaret Weber, 3.07.

Marian Perry with a 3.87 was second in the junior class, followed by Eugene Brown, 3.50 and Dorothy Williams, 3.19.

Lois Burnett lead the sophomores with a 3.80. Other sophomores making the honor list were Dorothy Oppenlander, 3.64; Betty Brown, 3.63; Orville Winters, 3.47; Don Pearson, 3.44; Lavelle Robison, 3.43; Rosemary Ramsey, 3.38; Yvonne Hubbard, 3.36; Clinton Brown, 3.20; Bob Adams, 3.17; Alice Hodson and Marilyn Huston, 3.00.

Following JoAnne and Arnold in the freshman class were Ardeth Beals, 3.86; Ellen Haines, 3.67; and Sandra Nordkye, 3.27.

Special students on the honor list were Dwight Huss (6 hours), 4.00 and Violet Richey (7 hours), 3.71.

College CE Presents Program

Presenting the evening service at the Friends church was the college Christian Endeavor in commemoration of CE's anniversary. Those taking part were Sam Farmer, Darwin Grimm, Arnold Lee, Bob Fiscus, Don Pearson, Marilyn Barnes, and Lavelle Robison.

Entered as second-class matter at the Postoffice at Newberg, Oregon.
Published bi-weekly during the college year by the Student Body of George Fox College (formerly Pacific College).
Terms—75c a year.

Does My Religion . . . ?

Some days ago there was presented in that widely-read devotional booklet, The Upper Room, this very simple question termed as the "thought for the day":

"Does my religion lead others to know God?"

It was a query which resembled, in essence at least, many we had read previously. If it had been worded in the third person, the impact would have been deminished. But there the question emerged—simple enough—but made especially searching by that personal "touch", does MY religion . . . ?

For the sake of relevancy permit this writer to dispense with the editorial "we" for these few lines and let me continue with my reflections of those quiet moments.

Does MY Religion? . . .

Just what is MY relationship to God? Is it an unclouded testimony of God's Grace which creates a "new person" through His Son, Jesus Christ? Do I have the "real thing"? That important first step in leading others to God is to know Him myself. Do I?

Does my religion LEAD? . . .

Is my religion the kind which tends to lovingly LEAD rather than "push" others into the fellowship of God? Do I live the Christ-life consistently enough to naturally LEAD others to Him? Or is my "Christian" influence of a negative nature, discouraging those around me from becoming Christians because of my adverse words and actions?

Does my Religion Lead OTHERS? . . .

There would be no need for a shepherd if there were no sheep. Moreover, there would be no need for a leader if there were not OTHERS . . . to follow. What a potential we have here! OTHERS! "The fields are white unto harvest." We are in daily contact with people who know not Christ. Does my religion reach out with the saving message to these . . . OTHERS?

Does my Religion Lead Others to KNOW? . . .

The first epistle of John in the New Testament is replete with this word KNOW. It is possible to KNOW many truths through accepting these promises. Do I KNOW? And is my knowledge positive enough to lead others to KNOW?

Does my Religion Lead Others to Know GOD? . . .

To know whom? GOD, the loving, heavenly father, never seen by mortal man, but who has revealed Himself through Christ Jesus. "Neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name under Heaven whereby we must be saved." The only valid religion in the world is that which leads individuals to a personal knowledge of God through Jesus Christ.

The greatest thing one can do in life is to bring others into the very presence of God to experience rich, everlasting joy.

Is this MY RELIGION, MY Saviour to whom I am LEADING OTHERS to confidently KNOW?

So end my thoughts for today. The question still stands. An answer can come from only one person—

MYSELF!

Second Semester Slump Stumps Superior Student

I was recently advised by the higher powers, that from now on and henceforth there will be no more bitter invective in this column. Period. (.) She meant it, too. Only the milk of human kindness, and cut the curdling.

Ladies, and Gentlemen, this is Milksop Adams (the former Acid Adams), reporting between mouthfuls of humble pie.

Now that I have the proper warm glow around my shriveled heart, I propose to give advice on how to combat the semester slump. So listen, Meine Kinder, and you shall hear:

Once upon a time, there was, in the land of Awz, a scholar, a student, an athlete, a musician and a laborer. He worked long and hard, at scholarship, at studies, at athletics, at music, and at labors. His name was Rodriguez. Rod, that is.

Rod began scholaring, studying, athleting, musicing and laboring on the first day of the first semester at Awz University. He pursued these activities long and faithfully for the next 18 weeks. He never relaxed. He always worked.

Along toward the end of the semester, Roddy boy got rather tired, but pulling himself together, he spent the latter three weeks of the semester boning up without sleep.

We could let it go without saying that Roddy was worn out by the time semester tests were over, but why let it go without saying. After all, I gotta fill up space here.

Well, anyway, by the second day of the second semester, Rod had a bad case of second semester slump. He felt slumpy all over, he looked slumpy, he acted slumpy. In short, he was a bona fide slump.

Rod didn't know what had hit him. Among other lacks, the student hand book said nothing about second semester slump. It was one of his most intimate friends who did the diagnosis. The confidential conversation:

"Rodiggy, Old boy, I hate to tell you this, but . . ."

"What is it, halitosis?"

"No," replied Friend, "I'd have told you long ago if it was only that, but you know, one just doesn't tell one's friends about . . . about . . . about . . ."

"Tell me, now! Now!"

"About . . ." Friend blushed violently, dropped his voice, whispered, "second semester slump."

Rod pulled himself together, squared off and made to his room. He broke open his three volume set of 'STUDENTS HANDY MEDICAL GUIDE FOR DORMITORY LIVING' Page 879. "Second Semester Slump. Cure: high room; with open window."

His funeral was yesterday.

Moral of the story. Fresh air only in small quantities.

Emcee 'Preacher at the Piano' Gives Information on Personal Music Interests

By Betty Brown

"This is Roy Clark, pastor of the Friends church down on the corner of 24th and Grant in Vancouver bringing you keyboard arrangements of old favorites in word and melody . . ."

So goes the introduction to the increasingly popular Preacher at the Piano broadcast each evening at 10:30-10:45 over KVAN.

Roy Clark

Sermonette

Live for Christ

Philippians 1:23-24; "For I am in a strait betwixt two, having a desire to depart, and to be with Christ; which is far better: Nevertheless to abide in the flesh is more needful for you."

Paul is telling of a conflict he finds in his own soul. He is not sure whether he desires to die and go to be in Heaven with his Lord, or to remain alive to be of service to the many young churches he has founded and the Christians he has won. This is truly a heavenly paradox! How many of us present-day Christians can find without ourselves enough grace to be in this predicament?

It must be admitted most of us have a very natural desire to live, and as long as possible. But let us compare our motive for life with that of Paul's. Paul wanted to live only for the benefit of others. His desire was that he might be of service to the Christians around him. All too often the motive in the lives of present-day Christians is a selfish one, and they desire to live so that they themselves may become happy, rich, or famous. Let us measure ourselves by Paul's yardstick, and correct what is found wanting.

This radio artist comes again to the stage of the Newberg high school auditorium to be master of ceremonies at the fourth annual Gospel Quartet festival.

On request of personal news Roy replied, "You gave me a big order to fill, but I remember the old adage: 'Whoso tooteth not his own horn, verily it shall not be tooted.'"

"God has blessed our radio venture, The Preacher at the Piano, this year. We feel the format, time, finances, etc., have been clearly of divine leading. Surveys show that we have an average of 25,000 listeners, and several conversions have resulted directly from it. The church is looking forward to expanding into the field of television soon."

Roy Clark gives his views and appreciation of male quartets by saying, "The male quartet is strictly an American institution. It is one of the most popular of all musical ensembles, with its appeal found in the blending of masculine tone and personality. Many choral directors have found that a male singing group is far more effective than a mixed or treble ensemble. I think the appeal of the Quartet festival has been based on the excellence of the quartets and the relaxed, informal nature of the show without emphasis on contest or competition. I am a great proponent of the art of 'Singing for the fun of it.'"

Not only an admirer of the art, but Roy's experience in quartet work is proved by the report of his participation in various male quartets. He traveled 30,000 miles with the Marion college quartet from Indiana. At Friends Bible college, Haviland, Kansas, he did concert work as director and sponsor of three different quartets.

"As a teacher at GFC I sang with the college quartet for two years, and later one year with the Uncalled Four."

While on the staff of George Fox college Roy organized the Singing Men who annually sponsor the Quartet Festival. Last year he directed Cascade college choir, and this year is directing the male glee club at Western Evangelical seminary while finishing his master's in music education at University of Portland.

Roy and his wife, Ruth, have five children, Harold, 9; David, 8; Joyce, 6; Faye, 4; and Priscilla, 3 months. "I was hoping for a boy," Roy added, "so I could have a family male quartet, but nature crossed me up."

Notes From the Staff Room

Have you seen . . . the poster in the main hall? It contains various sizes of question marks and a calendar with March 12 circled. Do you know what it means? Look on the school calendar. A hint: Ask any of the art students about chapel.

A note from Wheaton . . . The faculty has turned down a student council proposal which would permit unlimited class cuts. The students felt the plan would give them a healthier attitude toward classes. The opposition declared that the plan was "more theoretical than anything else." "It will not be discussed again this year," declared the dean.

SPEAK UP!

Dear Editor:

I would like to have the chance of giving my views on school spirit which was mentioned in Bob Adams' last column.

In a Christian school like ours the one thing that each and every one of us should strive for is fulfilling the will of God. We can do this by attending prayer meetings, church services, playing ball, yelling for the team and humbly gaining a scholastic reputation. All of these, and many more, will glorify our Lord Jesus Christ and so doing gain school spirit well worth having.

Administration Launches Campaign For Raising Living Endowment Fund

Plans are being completed this week by the George Fox college public relations office to launch the final public drive to gain 1,000 shares in the college's Living Endowment $25 club on Sunday, February 15.

The drive will extend from February 15 to June 1 and will be undertaken in public services in each of the churches of Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends church, the denomination sponsoring the school.

According to the treasurer of the college, J. Howard Pearson, some 610 shares in the $25 club are now "held" by interested individuals. Members of the $25 club sign up for one or more shares and pay that amount each year for an indefinite period. This enables the college to have perpetual support and does not require continued pledge drives for the operating budget of the school.

When the goal is reached the Living Endowment $25 club will bring in a total of $25,000 per year. This is equivalent to $835,000 in permanent endowment income if such funds were invested at a rate of 3 per cent interest.

The public appeals will be made in individual churches by members of the college's present administrative committee — Donald McNichols, dean; Paul Mills, head of the Bible department; and Harlow Ankeny, director of public relations. Some 50 churches will be visited in the three-and-one-half month period.

Opening the campaign February 15, the three-man group will center its attention on the Salem area Friends churches.

Dean Donald McNichols will speak at Highland church in the morning and South Salem in the evening. Harlow Ankeny will travel to Marion, Oregon for the morning service, while Paul Mills goes to Pringle meeting in the morning and Scotts Mills for the evening.

Newberg HS to Present Play

Newberg high school will present their student body play The Little Dog Laughed February 16 in their auditorium.

Dean Offers Class In Creative Writing

A course in creative writing has been newly organized by Dean Donald McNichols.

Three upper division students and sophomores Bob Adams and Betty Brown make up the class. The three are Dorothy Herrick, Marjorie Larrance, and Ralph Beebe.

At the first meeting Wednesday, it was decided that emphasis would be placed on writing the short story. It is the concern of some to try to create better short stories for religious periodicals.

The goal of the new class is to submit manuscripts for publication by the end of the year.

Creative writing has been offered in the catalogue, but has not been taught for at least two and a half years, reports Dean McNichols. The dean has had experience teaching creative writing in other institutions but not at GFC.

QUAKER CAMPUS CLUB COMMENTS

FMF to Sponsor Film Showing Regions Beyond, the 1951 award winner for the best motion picture of the year in the religious field, will be screened in the college dining hall Tuesday, February 10. The film, portraying the life of a typical missionary in African jungle, has been popular in YFC work. Its presentation on the GFC campus is being sponsored by the Foreign Missions Fellowship.

The forty-minute film, Regions Beyond has been characterized as a must for college students. Screen time is 7:30 p. m.

GF Club Plans Tournament

Preparations are nearly completed for the approaching grade school basketball tournament.

Preparations are much ahead of what they were at this time last year, according to Verne Martin, GF club president, sponsor of this annual event.

The tournament will be held in Hester gym on February 26, 27, and 28. Sixteen schools, eight "A" and eight "B" schools have teams entered in the tourney. GF club members will be in charge of all phases of this tournament. Every student is welcome to attend any or all of the games.

New pins have been received by the GF club. These are gold-filled with the letters "GF" engraved on them. Some members ordered guards with their pins with the numerals of the year they are graduating on them.

Trefian Tea to Be Thursday

The semi-annual Trefian tea will be held at 4:15 p. m. Thursday, February 12, in Canyon hall parlor.

The occasion is to be semi-formal and is in honor of the new club members. All members and interested women students and faculty members are urged to attend.

Vice-president Marilyn Barnes and social chairman, Pat Keppenger report that an interesting program is being planned.

2nd Semester Closes With Auxiliary Tea; Students' Mothers Are Honored Guests

Mothers of the students were guests at a tea given by the college auxiliary on Friday afternoon, January 30, in Canyon hall parlor.

Some twenty mothers were present besides students and auxiliary members.

Julia Pearson, who spent 22 years as a missionary in Central and South America, spoke on "Home Life in South America." Musical numbers were presented by students Dorothy Oppenlander, harpist, and Sandra Nordyke, pianist.

Mrs. Marcus Skarstedt and Mrs. Paul Mills presided at the tea, and Mrs. Charles Haworth was chairman of the planning committee.

The mothers were also guests at dinner in the dining hall and at the basketball game in the evening.

Over 70 invitations were sent to mothers of students, but many were unable to attend because of the distance involved. A number of replies were received by the Invitation Committee, some of which are quoted in part: "... Wish you all a most delightful and inspirational time together."

—Mrs. J. W. Brown; "It is impossible for me to attend, but my thoughts and prayers are with you."—Mrs. Cora Sullivan; "... May God bless you all as you fellowship with the other mothers."—Mrs. Arthur B. Wing; "Our prayers are that the school may grow and prosper with the Lord."

—Mrs. L. E. Jones; "... I send my love and greetings to all my friends."—Geneva Eichenberger; "... Will be thinking of you at that date and would certainly enjoy being there."—Mrs. A. N. Stanfield; "... I certainly appreciate the invitation, would love to be there."—Anna Eallard; "... We do send Christian love and greetings across the miles ... May His richest blessings be yours."—Ruth M. Houston.

Mrs. G. A. Hoskins wrote her greetings in poetic form:

"Greetings" to the Mothers,

And gracious hostess, too,

From far off Colorado

I send regards to you.

You've furnished our beloved son

Classmates kind and true,

And so I say, "May God be good,"

To you, and you, and you!

Gold Q Members Enjoy Ham 'n Eggs

Ten students and alumni club members shared ham and eggs at the annual Gold Q club breakfast last Saturday morning at 8 a. m. in the Whistlin' Pig restaurant at Portland.

Following the early morning meeting, the Gold Q's returned to GFC to await the scheduled student-alumni basketball game in the afternoon.

Attending the affair were Elenita Bales, Gertrude Ankeny, Enid Briggs, Muriel Hoover, Maribeth McCracken, Lea Wilkinson, Marjorie Larrance and Alice Hodson. Two Portland members, Jean Houghton and Betty Adams, also attended.

Sports Scoreboard

When GFC scored 26 points in four minutes last Friday, it very possibly could have set some kind of a record, though this cannot be substantiated. If a team did this throughout an entire game, 260 points would be scored.

Another near-record was Darwin "Cub" Grimm's 26 free throws. If he'd had an equally good night in the field goal department, he'd have scored 50 points easily. Grimm attempted 31 gift tosses. The entire Quaker team hit 40 for 56 in that department.

Grimm is a slender, left-handed freshman. He is a fair field shot, and a great free thrower and back-board man. His conference average of 27 points a game nearly doubles that of his closest competitor.

Ralph Beebe

Conditioning is a definite factor in the Quaker success. After defending against the fast break for three quarters, many opposing teams are worn down to the extent that a last-minute surge will carry the Balesmen to victory.

The last edition of the Crescent carried the winners of the Rose Bowl guessing contest, but failed to mention the third place finisher. Leland Brown, of Shedd, Oregon, and George Fox college, picked USC to win 10-7, and so received the third prize.

Newberg Merchants Edge Quakers By Two Points in Final Minute

With the lead changing three times in the final minute of play, the Newberg Merchants, paced by former Newberg high and Willamette university ace LeRoy Loeks, took a 54-52 basketball thriller from George Fox college on the formers' court here Tuesday night.

Loeks, who canned 20 for the evening, added a two-pointer from the key with 28 seconds remaining to give the local Townies the win. George Fox had rallied to a 52-51 lead previous to Loeks' winning score.

Cub Grimm, high-scoring George Fox forward, led the Quaker scoring parade with 19 points, scoring mostly in the opening stanza when the Quakers jumped to an early 14-7 lead.

The Merchants came back late in the second stanza to jump to a 29-26 halftime lead and held their lead until late in the final quarter.

Dick Zeller, relief center for the Quakers, gave the GFC crew a 48-47 lead with three minutes remaining but Gene Knopf, center of the Merchant quint, countered with a jump-shot from the side to give the lead back to the Merchants.

Grimm, on a fast break, scored for the Quakers with 1 minute, 43 seconds remaining for a 51-49 lead, Bill Tiger quickly erasing the lead with a one-hander from 15 feet out for a 51-all tie.

Norm Winters gave the GFC crew their final lead with 41 seconds left on a free toss before Loeks cashed his final bucket.

Quakerettes Chalk Up Points

The Quakerettes chalked up their first victory of the basketball season Thursday, January 22.

The team traveled to Sherwood and overpowered the Sherwood high girls' team 33-15.

Starting forwards were Marjorie Larrance, Alice Hodson, and Joyce Hoover; guards were Jennie Adams, Dorothy Williams, and Virginia Peters. Muriel Hoover and Marilyn Huston were subs for the forwards, Audrey Comfort and Verdella Green for the guards.

Alice Hodson, high with 17 points, returned to school with a sprained ankle received in the game. Joyce Hoover was second with 10 points.

A return game is scheduled to be played here on Tuesday, March 3.

The second game of the season was another win for the George Fox college girls. On Saturday, January 31, they were victorious over the George Fox college alumni team. Joyce Hoover sparked the team with her quick lay-in shots.

The next game is scheduled for February 5, when the team travels to McMinnville to meet the Linfield six.

Amazing Rally Gives Lead To Victorious Balesmen

An amazing, unbelievable rally brought George Fox from a 15 point deficit with four minutes remaining to a 64-61 win over Oregon Medical here Friday. The victory put GFC in undisputed possession of first place in the Metropolitan conference.

With four minutes left in the game, OM led 53-38. The Balesmen pumped 26 points through the mesh before the final gun.

Cub Grimm, freshman forward, scored 34 points during the contest. Only eight came on field goals; he hit 26 of 31 free throws.

George Fox played listlessly for 36 minutes. As the first period closed, the Medicine Men led 17-12. By halftime it was 32-22. At the three-quarter mark the score stood 46-33. Six minutes later it was 53-38.

Then Coach George Bales sent in Jack Hoskins, a reserve forward. The Doctors failed to put a man on him, and he quickly dropped in two set-ups to make it 53-42. A few seconds later, Hoskins, now closely guarded, swished a beautiful hook shot. Bob Kendall retaliated with a free throw and Bill Gorrell hit a two-pointer for OM to make it 56-44 with three minutes remaining.

Oregon Medical attempted to stall, but had no success against the hard-driving Quakers. Many times the Balesmen stole the ball, and the tiring Medics committed fouls trying to regain possession. Cub Grimm made three free throws, Dick Zeller got two, and Grimm added another pair to make the score 56-51.

Rich Gardner scored a free toss for Oregon Medical, increasing the lead to 57-51. Then Verne Martin dribbled into the front court, almost out of bounds behind the basket, and swished a crowd-raising jump shot to narrow the gap to four points. Al Henderson came back with two free tosses and it was 59-53 with time quickly diminishing.

Dick Zeller connected another free throw, and Grimm dropped a field goal and two free shots. The margin was 59-58.

A partisan crowd went hysterical as Verne Martin tied the count with a gifter. Forty-five seconds remained. During the next 25 seconds Cub Grimm was fouled three times, and made five of six tosses, cinching the contest for the home team.

With five seconds remaining, Bob Kendall scored a belated pair of free throws, and the final score was 64-61.
